ABOUT THE CPHR

The Chartered Professional in Human Resources (CPHR) designation recognizes achievement and capability. CPHR status signifies that an individual has achieved and continues to actively demonstrate knowledge and skills within the field of Human Resources. Through an examination and assessment process, each candidate for the CPHR must demonstrate the core competencies relevant to the HR profession.

There is high demand for qualified professionals in all disciplines today. As companies compete for organizational success in an ever-changing environment, they are looking to Human Resources to help them effectively manage talent.

The designation assures employers, clients and other HR professionals that a CPHR has committed to abiding by a professional code of ethics.

Once an individual obtains the CPHR designation, there is an ongoing requirement to maintain one's competency. This is demonstrated through compliance with the standards set for continuing professional development.

APPLICATION OF THE COMPETENCY FRAMEWORK

The CPHR Competency Framework outlines 44 discipline-specific professional competencies that candidates for the designation must demonstrate in order to be chartered. Competencies are written as statements that define the work of a Chartered Professional in Human Resources, so that a provincial Human Resources association can assess whether candidates have met the standards expected by employers and the public. The competencies are regularly reviewed through a national professional practice analysis.

The CPHR Competency Framework specifies the proficiency level at which each competency is to be demonstrated and how it will be assessed. The competencies and proficiency levels represent the minimum requirement to meet CPHR designation.

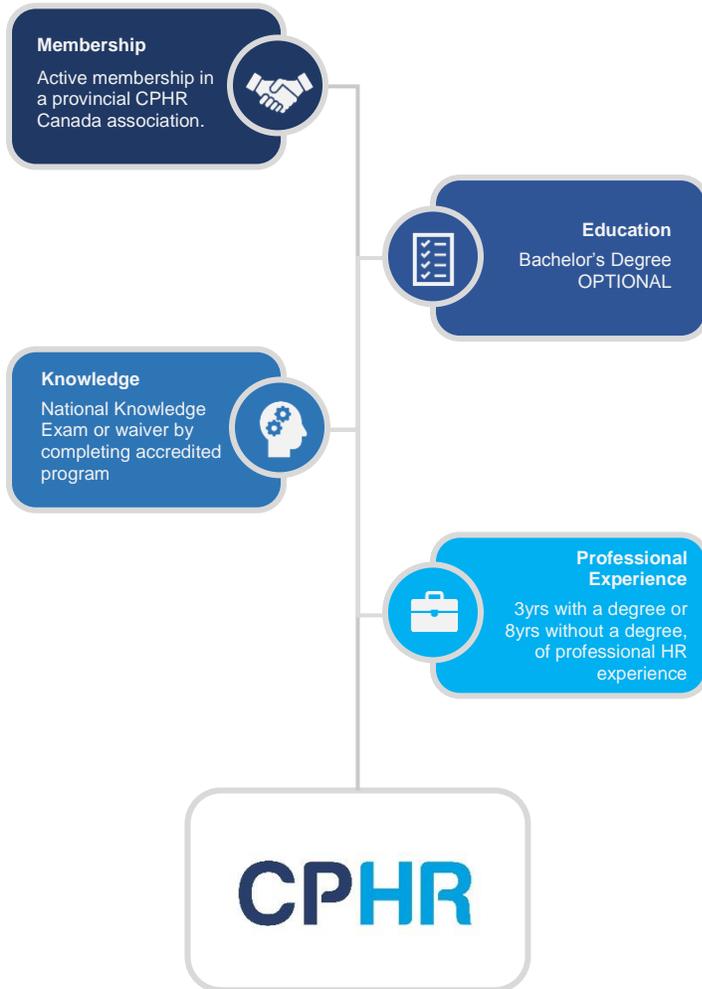

The CPHR Competency Framework is the foundation on which the CPHR designation rests.

It is used by

- Employers and the public to better understand the value of the CPHR;
- The academic community in the design and development of course curriculum and profession-specific programs;
- CPHR holders to validate their skills and abilities, and articulate their value as a CPHR;
- CPHR holders and CPHR Canada member associations for continuing professional development (CPD) requirements; and,
- Future CPHR holders to help them understand the knowledge, skills, and abilities required to become a CPHR.

PATH TO OBTAIN THE CPHR

The CPHR education, examination, and experience requirements are designed to provide candidates opportunities to develop and demonstrate the required CPHR competencies.

The path to become a Chartered Professional in Human Resources requires an individual to

- Meet the requirements for membership in their local provincial CPHR Canada member association;
- Complete a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree in any discipline; (note: there is a non-degree option that requires eight years of professional HR experience)
- Pass the National Knowledge Exam demonstrating theoretical knowledge; (note: the NKE can be waived by attending an accredited post-secondary program)
- Demonstrate skill and expertise through a minimum of three years' work experience at the professional level in Human Resources; and,
- Commit to adhere to the CPHR Code of Ethics.

MAINTAINING THE CPHR

Once an individual obtains the CPHR designation there is an ongoing requirement to maintain one's competency. This is demonstrated through compliance with the standards for Continuing Professional Development (CPD).

CPD involves the recording of development activities that aid you in advancing and expanding your professional knowledge and practice in the competency areas. CPHRs are required to submit a CPD log by the end of December each year.

OVERVIEW OF THE FUNCTIONAL KNOWLEDGE AREAS

Functional competencies are specific to Human Resources and are grouped by nine disciplines, or, knowledge areas.

ENABLING COMPETENCIES

In addition to the knowledge and skills competencies within the Functional Knowledge Areas, a range of Enabling Competencies complete the successful professional's skill set.

- Strategic and Systems Thinking
- Professional and Ethical Practice
- Critical Problem-Solving and Analytical Decision-Making
- Change Management and Cultural Transformation

Communication, Conflict Resolution and Relationship Management Descriptions of the Enabling Competencies are outlined in Appendix B.

PROFICIENCY LEVELS & ASSESSMENTS

Proficiency levels describe the standard of knowledge or skill required by an individual to become chartered. The levels of proficiency for the CPHR Framework are defined as follows:

Awareness - the ability to explain, describe and demonstrate knowledge.

Comprehension - building on awareness, comprehension demonstrates an understanding of the process to apply knowledge to perform the competency.

Proficiency – building on awareness and comprehension, proficiency demonstrates the ability to draw upon prior experience to perform the competency by planning, interpreting, analyzing, and tailoring to their environment.

For each Functional Competency, the proficiency level at which it is to be demonstrated is specified. In addition, the proficiency levels determine the method of assessment for each functional competency.

For the list of proficiency levels and assessment method for all Functional Competencies refer to Appendix A – HR Competencies by Functional Area.

REQUIREMENTS

Education Requirement

Candidates pursuing the designation via the degree route must confirm that they have completed a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree in any discipline. A degree provides the basis for enabling competencies that allow individuals to effectively apply functional knowledge by using critical thinking and analytical processes in a wide variety of situations. The completion of a degree also enables one to develop a general knowledge and understanding of many key concepts, methodologies, theoretical approaches and assumptions in one or more disciplines; the ability to gather, review, evaluate and interpret information relevant to specific topics; the ability to use a range of established techniques to identify problems, critically analyze information, evaluate alternatives and propose solutions; the ability to communicate the results of their work accurately and reliably; and the commitment to take personal accountability for decision-making.

Individuals may also pursue the designation via a non-degree route, wherein they demonstrate the basis for competencies and functional know through eight or more years of professional HR experience.

National Knowledge Exam

The National Knowledge Exam® (NKE) serves as the national benchmark for the assessment of proficiency in the Human Resources body of knowledge. The exam assesses an individual's understanding of the CPHR competencies as they relate to academic knowledge. Academic knowledge refers to basic facts, policies, practices, methods, legislation, etc. It is information that can be written into procedures and transferred fairly accurately during the learning process. The NKE questions are based on the competencies within the nine Functional Knowledge Areas.

Member Association Accredited Human Resources Programs

Individuals pursuing the CPHR may be able to waive writing the NKE if they have successfully completed an accredited credit-level HR Diploma or Degree that is aligned to the competencies as outlined in the CPHR Functional Knowledge Areas. Qualifying programs within educational institutions are accredited by a provincial member association and recognized by all CPHR Canada member associations once accredited.

Professional Experience Requirement

The CPHR Experience Requirement is a formal step in earning your CPHR designation. It requires candidates to demonstrate a minimum of either three years' professional experience in Human Resources (with a degree) or eight years' experience without a degree. Through the experience requirement, candidates for the designation demonstrate their ability to apply the knowledge and skills gained from their formal education and experience to a workplace environment. A broad range of experience must be demonstrated in a minimum of two of the Functional Knowledge Areas or specialized depth of experience in one Functional Knowledge Area. If depth does not cover all of the competencies in that Functional Knowledge Area, the requirement of the experience in two Functional Knowledge areas would still apply.
